4611

PRIME FLEX 4611 is a urethane elastomeric system designed to provide a soft walking/working surface over a variety of different substrates. Its high elongation and tensile strength allow it to bridge cracks and handle deflection and movement at a greater degree than epoxy systems. With no seams to maintain and no welds to accumulate germs, 4611 is the healthier alternative to welded sheet vinyl or vinyl tile.

COMMON APPLICATIONS

4611 is typically installed over clean prepared concrete where a soft anti-fatigue and easily sterilized, yet durable finish is desired. Specific applications include, but are not limited to: Medical procedure and O.R. rooms, hospital patient rooms, laboratories, rehabilitation centers, schools, animal care facilities, zoos and any public areas.
